cultures AND make sure each shares their own authentic slant on building a better web together. Google Developer Days is a multi-location web developer conference showcasing the latest and greatest

A unique challenge: build a brand that resonates across three disparate entrepreneurs, disruptors, and developers from across the globe. Two to three days of exciting inside info, technical talks, and hands-on learning were carefully curated in Krakow, Bangalore, and Beijing. From the identity design to every pillow and drink ticket, every detail was carefully designed by Ocupop.
